SUMMARY: Primary School Districts Surrounding Fort Detrick-Forest Glen, Maryland

- Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS) is committed to helping every student leave high school prepared for college and career success. We are preparing students for college beginning in kindergarten and the Seven Keys are at the heart of our work. The Keys build on each other, so attaining the early Keys puts students in a better position to reach the Keys that follow on the pathway. By working with your child and your child's teachers, you can ensure your child is on the path to college.
- District of Columbia Public School (DCPS) is committed to providing all students with a high quality of education. Everyone in our district—from students to teachers, staff to principals—is committed to making DCPS the highest performing urban school district in the nation. The years 2012 to 2017 will be a time of dramatic progress for the District of Columbia Public Schools. Through the strategic plan, DCPS recommit to providing every student with a safe, academically challenging, and inspiring learning experience.
